Once upon a time there was a spider. He became big and strong and healthy. He was in a cave, a black cave. He went to get warm and he got warm. He saw the water. He walked and he was tired.