The Happy Friends

Once upon a time there was a beautiful butterfly. And she was flying around in the garden. She saw flowers and it smelt good and she then started lying on it. Then a bee came and the bee didn’t know that the butterfly was there. And then they said “If you want to be friends we can be friends”. They lived happy ever after.